

Thirteenth Meeting

THE NORTH CAROLINA SHELL CLUB

SPRING MEETING

MOREHEAD CITY AND CAPE LOOKOUT

March 4 & 5, 1960

PROGRAM

Friday evening, March 4th, 7:30 P.M. Informal Meeting and Coffee Hour. North Carolina Division of Commercial Fisheries Building, Morehead City, N. C.

During part of the time Mrs. Graham Bell of Fayetteville is expected to talk about her collecting trips.

Saturday, March 5th, 8:30 A.M. Collecting trip to Cape Lookout.

Those wishing to go will meet on or before 8:30 A.M. in front of the North Carolina Division of Commercial Fisheries Building. At that time the group will go by car to Harker's Island where they will board boats for the trip to Cape Lookout. The cost of the boat trip is expected to be between one and two dollars per person. Being that there are no stores or restaurants on the cape, members will be expected to provide their own lunch. Mr. Davis, who is making the arrangements for the trip and who has a camp on the cape, is offering the camp's cooking facilities for those who wish to have hot coffee or a hot lunch (providing they bring their own utensils).

Saturday afternoon, March 5th, 4:00 P.M. Business Meeting.
North Carolina Division of Commercial Fisheries Building.

After a short business session, Dr. M. R. Carriker (Zoology Department, University of North Carolina) will lead the club in an evaluation of the material found on the collecting trip.

Members and non-members are urged to bring for display or trade part or all of their shell collection. It is known that C.W.O. Tabor of Camp Lejeune may bring his excellent collection for exhibit.

The meetings are open to everyone interested in shells, whether it be as a hobby or a profession. Come and make the meeting a success.

Those expecting to go on the trip to Cape Lookout are urged to send a card stating this to the club secretary, Hugh J. Porter. This will help Mr. Davis in making arrangements for the boat trip.
